Four FEI World Cups: what else?

No other event in Europe can boast of hosting as many FEI World Cups as Equita Lyon, as part of Longines Equita Lyon, Concours Hippique International de Lyon! The Rhône-Alpes event offers spectators four FEI World Cups legs: the Longines FEI Jumping World Cup, the FEI Dressage World Cup, the FEI Driving World Cup and the FEI Jumping Ponies’ Trophy, the Pony Jumping World Cup. All the FEI World Cup Dressage and Driving classes and the FEI Jumping Ponies’ Trophy are open to everyone, who has an entry ticket to the exhibition. The Longines FEI Jumping World Cup offers beginners the opportunity to familiarise themselves with the key discipline of equestrian sports, with a large majority of the classes being open to everyone, and aficionados can attend three high-flying events, which all the best riders on the planet dream of adding to their list of wins: the Longines Grand Prix on 1 November, the Equita Masters on Saturday 2 November in the evening and the Longines FEI Jumping World Cup™ leg on Sunday 3 November in the afternoon, (specific tickets are required for these three events).

The French Republican Guard will perform *Couleurs

Guest of honour in 2018 for two shows that were sold out, the French Republican Guard will return to Equita Lyon in 2019, to the delight of the many spectators who were not able to admire the most prestigious French equestrian group in action last year. This time back at the Lyon-Eurexpo arena, the French Republican Guard will perform a series of choreographies that have never been seen in public before, despite a busy schedule of performances around the world. The French Republican Guard will be accompanied by renowned equestrian artists for the Couleurs equestrian show.
